

Part 1

Hello, everyone. Have you ever imagined what you would like to do if you could only live for the next 24 hours? Would you travel somewhere or eat some delicious food? As for me, if I had just one day left, I would spend my time with the people I love. First, I'd like to say thank you to them, and I would like to share happy memories from the past with them. If I had more than 24 hours, I would read as many manga as I could or climb a mountain to enjoy beautiful views. However, with just one day left, I'd like to spend time with the people I love.

Part 2

F: Hi, thanks for joining us today. Congrats on your new movie! How do you feel?

M: Thanks! I feel happy and a bit relaxed. Making a movie is hard work, and it's great to see it done.

F: Your movie is getting good reviews. What gave you the idea for this film?

M: The idea came from something that happened to me a few years ago. I wanted to show my experience and how people can find hope in tough times.

F: That's interesting. The characters in your movie feel very real. How did you create them?

M: Creating characters is very important to me. I thought a lot about their backgrounds. I also talked a lot with the actors because I wanted them to understand their roles well.

F: The actors did a great job. How did you choose them?

M: Casting was a careful process. I wanted actors not only to look right for the part but also to have the right feelings. We had many auditions to find the best fit.

F: What's next for you? Do you have any new projects?

M: I'm working on a new script that I'm very excited about. It's still early, but I hope to share more soon.

F: We look forward to it! Thank you for your time today, and congratulations again on your new movie.

M: Thank you! It was great talking with you.

Part 3

Many Japanese people think blood type is linked to personality, but this idea is uncommon in other countries. Many people outside Japan believe it is strange to connect blood type and personality. There are two main reasons why this idea is popular in Japan.

First, the blood types in Japan are well-balanced. Therefore, it is easy to make four groups by blood type. In some other countries, the mix is not so even. For example, 93% of people in Bolivia have type O blood. It is hard to judge personality by blood type in such countries.

Second, many Japanese people know their blood type, but not in other countries. If you ask someone from the United States or Europe, "What's your blood type?" they might say, "Why do you want to know? Are you a doctor?" However, people in Japan talk about blood type more often than in other countries.

Scientists say there is no connection between blood type and personality, but many Japanese people still find the idea interesting.

Part 4

F: May I help you?

M: I'm looking for this style jacket in black, size L. Do you have it?

F: I'm sorry, but this style is very popular. We are out of black in size L. We have gray in size L.

How about that? If you want black, we can order it, but it will take 10 days.

M: I need it for a weekend business trip, so I can't wait 10 days.

F: I see. How about size M? I think size M will fit you. Would you like to try it on?

M: Hmm, it could be a bit small. I prefer the gray one.

F: How about a navy tie with the gray jacket? I can give you a 10% discount for the set. It's a great deal.

M: The tie looks nice and matches the jacket well, but I have many ties already, so I don't need it.

F: I understand. How about pants that match the jacket? I can give you a 10% discount for the set.

M: I like the pants, but can you make them cheaper?

F: How about adding a shirt to the set? This shirt matches the jacket perfectly. I can give you a 20% discount for those three items.

M: 20%! That sounds great. I like the shirt too. I'll buy them at that price.

F: Thank you! Please pay the bill over there. Is there anything else you need?

M: No, that's all. Thank you for your help.

F: You're welcome! Please come again if you need anything else.
